

Pompeu Fabra University Assistant Professor Positions 2021

Pompeu Fabra University (UPF), Barcelona, seeks to hire tenure-track Assistant Professors to begin September 2021, in any Business and Management field. We are looking for productive applicants who hold a Ph.D. (or are close to its completion date) and have the potential of becoming reputable researchers in their area.

The UPF Department of Economics and Business is a leading research center, and has consistently ranked among the top departments in Europe in terms of publications and success in highly competitive international grant competitions. Please see <https://www.upf.edu/en/web/econ/publications> for more information about research at the Department.

The vibrant intellectual environment at UPF is organized around a dozen weekly research seminars by area. Moreover, faculty members benefit from research and teaching support from the UPF-Barcelona School of Management and the Barcelona GSE.

Interested candidates should submit an electronic package including a current CV, a copy of the job market paper, a research statement, and three letters of recommendation. Applications should be submitted – in the business and management section – at: <https://www.upf.edu/web/econ//tenure-track-positions>.

The deadline for applications is October 1, 2020.

Pre-flyout interviews will be held on-line via Zoom in October. Campus visits will be scheduled in Fall-Winter of 2020 subject to Covid-19 contingencies.

If you have any question about these positions or about the logistics of submitting your application, please contact the recruiting committee at recruiting.management@upf.edu.